

CITY OF PORTSMOUTH

UPDATE from the City Manager for Sunday, June 14, 2020

Governor Sununu's "Stay At Home 2.0" order expires June 15, 2020. Replaced by "Safer At Home."
Number of COVID-19 deaths, to date, in the US 117,654, in NH 318.

Note from Portsmouth's Poet Laureate: Similar to last week's acrostic, the form I chose this week can also be called a cento. Known as the golden shovel, this relatively new poetic form is a gift given to us by African-American poet Terrance Hayes.

Toppling

After Boy Breaking Glass by Gwendolyn Brooks

<https://www.poetryfoundation.org/poems/43322/boy-breaking-glass>

The pigeon perches, each an original commission, cast in stone, to honor a man of historical note, though his contributions even then brought grief.

That grief now uncontainable, seeks each monument, questioning tribute to what perhaps even the commemorated now disavows, his stolid countenance reflecting his eternal loneliness.

His mount, his sword, still steady, and only his avian admirers fidgety with the overdue arrival of time's revenge.

Tammi J Truax

Portsmouth Poet Laureate 2019-2021

Maine Beat Poet Laureate 2018-2020