PLANNING AND ZONING LAWS

Here are some helpful resources – within each, you may wish to refine your search by entering housing, dwelling, or similar.

- Local laws
 - For Portsmouth: Land Use and Zoning Regulations
 - May also be found in the New Hampshire Zoning Atlas. The zoning laws of each jurisdiction in the state were coded and form the foundation of this extremely comprehensible tool. Click on the map where you are interested, and information will come up for the jurisdiction and underlying zoning district. Links to the land-use regulations are provided, where available, at the bottom of that jurisdiction’s window. (from the website)

- State laws and information about planning and zoning laws may be found:
 - (Portsmouth’s own) Loughlin, Peter, Land Use Planning and Zoning (4th ed.) This is Volume 15 of the New Hampshire [Municipal Law] Practice Series. According to information provided:
This volume deals with the purposes, adoption, amendment and enforcement of zoning ordinances; nonconforming uses; vesting; preemption; variances; special exceptions; subdivision and site plan approval; historic districts; excavations and wetlands.
It is available for purchase via LexusNexus and is more than likely to be found in the public library.
 - New Hampshire Municipal Association holds workshops and webinars that address land- use regulations, as well an annual day in October for municipal leaders, planners, builders and others with a stake in knowing what the laws say and mean.
 - The New Hampshire Law Library at the New Hampshire Supreme Court is a treasure trove of information related to zoning in the state.
 - The Resources page of the New Hampshire Office of Planning and Development offers yet more information about zoning here in the Granite State.
 - And of course, New Hampshire Housing has a page dedicated to Housing Challenges and Solutions, with lots of great information for people expanding housing options in their communities.

In addition, the NH Office of Planning and Zoning has lots of great ‘training’ materials, found here. Scroll down the page for recordings of their monthly webinar series on a variety of related topics.
